

OPPOSE SUPREME COURT NOMINEE NEIL GORSUCH

Neil Gorsuch, President Trump's nominee to the Supreme Court, has a long history of pushing an agenda that favors big corporations over working people.

Would Weaken Worker Protections. Gorsuch opposes Supreme Court rulings that empower federal agencies to enforce worker protections. (Newsweek, 1/27/17)

Fought to Give Corporations Greater Protections in Court. Gorsuch argued for courts to protect corporations from class-action lawsuits by individual consumers, even in cases of securities fraud. (Washington Legal Foundation, April 2005)

Criticized Individuals Bringing Cases to the Supreme Court. Gorsuch criticized people who brought cases to the Supreme Court to protect their rights, calling it an "addiction to the courtroom" and "bad for the judiciary." (The Denver Post, 5/10/09)
