I am a proud union electrician. I began at Local 1166 (Kokomo Casting Plant) in 1994, serving five terms as Skilled Trades Committeeperson and Shop Chair. For the past ten years, I’ve served as an International Rep, most recently working to clean up the mess left by corrupt leadership.

I’m putting everything on the line to run because I am fed up. We need to restore Trust, Faith, Belief and Pride in being a UAW member.

For too long, the UAW has been led by corrupt leaders who care more about the company than the membership. This has led to plant closing after plant closing, and spin-off after spin-off. We must elect new leaders that will serve notice to the companies that we will strategically hit you where it hurts, and fight for our jobs. We must say NO to tiers and concessions across all sectors of the UAW.

I’ve been given the “Who do you work for speech” by corrupt leaders more times than I can count. Here’s what I told them: I may report to you, but I work for the membership and I’m not going to compromise my integrity just because you’ve told me to.

Here’s my record: I opposed the 3/2/120 Alternative Work Schedule when it was launched in 2003 at Mack Engine Plant, and the 2007 National agreement implementing tiers at Chrysler. I helped organize protests in 2009 at Chrysler HQ and the St. Louis and Sterling Heights Assembly plants when they were slated for closure.

While on staff, I helped stop the conductor initiative that threatened the livelihood of skilled trades workers which then-VP Norwood Jewell agreed to with Chrysler behind closed doors.

Being President isn’t an entry-level position, and fixing our union isn’t a job for one person. That’s why I’m honored to be running with Members United, and to be backed by diverse activists across our union. In order to fight alongside you, we need to have your support in this election. Let’s take back our union TOGETHER.

Visit uawmembers.org to learn more about Shawn Fain and UAW Members United. Click here to watch a video Q&A with Shawn.
Margaret Mock for Secretary-Treasurer

I am an experienced financial officer and a fierce protector of the interests of UAW members. I currently work on the shop floor at Local 140 (Stellantis Warren Truck).

At Local 961, I was elected Treasurer, Financial Secretary, Committeeperson (three terms), served as Shop Chair, and multiple years as a Bargaining Committee Member. As a Health & Safety Rep, I fought hard for the membership, filing OSHA charges that placed the company into the Severe Violators Enforcement Program. As a result, corrupt union leaders removed me, claiming I needed to be friendlier with management. I refused to be bullied or compromise my integrity!

I am running because even after the exposure of a massive corruption scandal, we still do not have trustworthy leaders on the IEB.

According to the UAW Monitor's status report filed in July (uawmonitor.com/reports), my opponent used $95,000 in UAW membership dues to purchase 1,500 backpacks with his name and title on them. Meanwhile, the IEB is still dragging its feet on implementing the Monitor’s recommendations for improving our financial compliance standards and controls.

As Secretary-Treasurer, I vow to:
- Fully cooperate with the Monitor in all investigations.
- Fully implement all of the Monitor’s recommendations.
- Make the financial records of the International Union transparent to the membership.
- Enforce strict bookkeeping and vendor protocols within the International Union.
- Ensure that members fighting the companies receive strike assistance in a timely manner.

By working together as a TEAM, we can clean up our union and restore the trust of the membership!

Visit uawmembers.org to learn more about Margaret. Click here to watch a video of Margaret giving a speech.
We deserve a Vice President with a strong record of standing up for the membership and battling the companies. I’m currently the Skilled Trades Committeeman at Local 140, and previously served as President of Local 961 for three terms, where I negotiated three local agreements as the Chair of the Bargaining Committee. I’m a U.S. Army Veteran.

In 2003, I was able to insource the WK Axle through negotiations at Detroit Axle. From 2008 to 2010, I fought BOTH the company and then-VP General Holiefield to try to stop the corrupt Marysville Axle deal, leading me to be kicked out of Solidarity House. In 2013, I was part of the group of Skilled Trades who appealed the IEB decision to implement the 2011 Chrysler National Agreement to the PRB after it was rejected by the workers.

As a delegate to the 2022 Constitutional Convention, I voted for Day 1 strike pay, to increase strike pay to $500 a week, to reject tiers, and against IEB pay raises. You can count on me to represent your interests.

Visit uawmembers.org to learn more about Rich

Rich Boyer for Vice President
Our union is an inheritance that has been handed down to us from prior generations of members. But for too long, our leadership has taken it for granted. Our number one priority must be to rid ourselves of the company's agenda and fight for workers again. Substandard contracts have disenfranchised the membership in all sectors, including in the Big Three in 2011, 2015 and 2019.

I vow to fight stagnant wages, the tier systems for new hires, contractual giveaways, and to never treat our retirees as a disposable commodity. Above all, we must prepare members in the Big Three and beyond for the possibility of a strike in 2023.

I’ve opposed management for over 20 years. Before transferring to Local 1700 (Sterling Heights Assembly Plant), I served as Chief Steward (2013-2017) and President (2017-2021) at Local 961. I fought the selloff of the Marysville Axle Plant and helped organize a lawsuit against both the company and the International Union.

Visit uawmembers.org to learn more about Mike

Mike Booth
President
Local 961

UAW
Members United
I’m currently the Recording Secretary of UAW Local 644, where I work as a machine operator at Dometic, a marine manufacturer. I also serve as the Vice Chair of the Bargaining Committee (Dometic Unit), Education Chair, and Convention Delegate. Last but not least, I’m a father of four, husband to my amazing wife Eman, and a Marine Corps Veteran (2008-2012).

I’m running because I believe we need to put power back into the hands of rank-and-file workers, whether we’re in the Big Three, independent parts, gaming, or higher education. For too long, Region 9 leadership has taken a top-down mentality. If elected, I will open up lines of communication using 21st century tools, and begin an education campaign for our membership.

I will fight for higher wages and COLA reinstatement. I’m proud of the contract I negotiated at Dometic with no tiers and a 45-day progression for temps. As a delegate, I voted against IEB pay raises, and I pledge to donate 34% of my wages as Regional Director. I will also support forensic audits of Region 9 and will work with the UAW Monitor to expose corruption.

Visit uawmembers.org/dan to learn more about Dan

Daniel Vicente for Region 9 Director
I’m a proud member of Local 5118 (Harvard Graduate Students Union), where I worked as a teaching and research assistant—and where I helped organize two strikes against the world’s wealthiest university, including a 29-day strike in 2019. I became the first President of our Local and worked aggressively to enforce our first contract and negotiate our second.

I’m now a staff organizer with UAW 2325 (Association of Legal Aid Attorneys), where I’ve successfully negotiated three contracts and am in the middle of negotiating five more.

Whether we work at a plant, a casino, or a university, or whether they’re retirees, Region 9A members are demanding strong contracts with better pay, healthcare, protections against abuse, and the restoration of pensions and dignity in retirement.

We can only make these gains if we have representation from across all the sectors and industries in the UAW. As part of the Members United slate, you can count on me to fight for all Region 9A workers and the contracts we deserve.

Visit brandonfor9A.org to learn more about Brandon
I'm a proud pipefitter currently serving my third consecutive term as President of Local 1264 (Stellantis Sterling Heights Stamping Plant). Before that, I served as Recording Secretary for three terms. I’ve held many positions over the past 22 years, giving me the experience to move our union forward with greatness:

- UAW National Negotiator at FCA Group, elected 2015-2019
- National Skilled Trades Delegate, elected 2004-2018
- Region 1 Skilled Trades Council, elected 2006-2011

I promise to effectively communicate with you, improve the educational program for the membership, and arm our Local leadership with the knowledge to represent our members.

I will work tirelessly on the IEB to bargain on behalf of UAW members and ensure a prosperous future. The days of unchallenged concessions will end. Together We Can, Together We Will return to the core values of the UAW!

Visit lashawnenglish.com to learn more about LaShawn

LaShawn English for Region 1 Director